Lloyd Terrace Thanksgiving Menu: Turkey—with Bingo Trimmings

*Over the river and through the woods
To Grandmother's house
we go*

No, it's not quite that way. Grandma and Grandpa gave up the old farm a long time ago; that new six-lane bridge over the river and the Interstate through the woods, and besides there's no money in pumpkins any more.

So now they have a tidy little apartment — one or two bedrooms and an efficiency kitchen no bigger than a goblet. In fact, they may well be living in Princeton's Lloyd Terrace on Harrison Street, Thanksgiving will be a quiet day at home.

Perhaps a son or daughter will telephone from two thousand miles away, and maybe a Princeton family will invite them to share a turkey, although when you get along in years, your appetite isn't quite what it used to be . . .

In any case, at Lloyd Terrace the Thanksgiving holiday begins, not with turkey, but with Bingo. This Tuesday's Thanksgiving party was scheduled a long time ago as Bingo Night, one of three or four Bingo parties given for Lloyd Terrace each year by Princeton's Methodist Church. Bingo, because that's what they enjoy most at Lloyd Terrace.

Prizes for everyone — cosmetics, books, stationery, a little vase bright with bittersweet vine, a bowl of pine-cones and greens. Yes, most of the Bingo players are women. A few couples will come but the single men, who live alone, usually stay away.

"We have prizes for everyone because so many Lloyd Terrace residents look forward for weeks to these Bingo parties," explains Mrs. Ruth Shaw, who is Bingo lady for the Methodists. ("I take a lot of ribbing about that — a Methodist running a Bingo game!")

Lucky ones are allowed to continue playing, but they are asked, please, not to call out if luck strikes again. Some players may even get two or three prizes, but Mrs. Shaw wants to be sure each player wins at least one.

Lloyd Terrace is the Princeton

Borough Housing Authority's project for the elderly. There is a Community Room and parties are always held there because it is frequently difficult for residents to get around town easily, even if somebody picks them up in a car for the drive to the Methodist Church.

Older residents in the Authority's Clay Street project are also welcome — Bingo night, or just an ordinary social evening.

"God's Senior Saints," is the way young Olive Havens refers to these eager, senior Bingo players. Olive, a senior at Princeton Theological Seminary, visits Lloyd once or twice each week, more if someone is sick. She works with the Princeton Methodist Church group, making all the plans for entertaining the 20-30 Lloyd residents who come each time for the Bingo.

For Hallowe'en the Methodist young people came, and 12-year-

Two Vacancies Definite on '73 School Board

Two of the three school board members whose terms expire this year aren't going to run again definitely. "No," said Henry Powsner and Mrs. Evelyn Geddes this week. Dr. Robert Birman, board president and the third incumbent, said he hadn't completely made up his mind, and would probably announce his decision after Thanksgiving.

Both Dr. Powsner and Mrs. Geddes are Borough representatives. Dr. Birman is from the Township. All three are identified with what is sometimes called the "liberal" side of the school board, generally supportive of Superintendent Philip E. McPherson.

Mrs. Kathy Edward, school board member who was defeated last year in her bid for re-election, is rumored to be a candidate. She said this week that she, too, might have a statement after Thanksgiving. She is a Borough resident, and is usually labelled anti-McPherson.

Deadline for filing applications for the school board election is Wednesday, December 27, at 4 p.m. at the Stony Brook Administration Building, Stockton Street.

Battle Looms. Meanwhile, as the deadline and the February election draw near, the battle smoke begins to rise again. Politecking on school issues in Princeton, as in many other communities, is so laden with Byzantine intrigue that municipal elections seem like gentle pasturals in comparison.

Last week, the anti-McPherson Parents of Princeton School Children ran an advertisement in TOWN TOPICS purporting to show what the new administrative structure of the system will be.

None of the alleged change has been announced publicly. Questioned about the advertisement's statements, Dr. McPherson said that administrative reorganization is still in the developmental stage, and proposals of various kinds are still "under consideration."

At a full staff meeting on November 8, the superintendent and faculty and staff were given a status report on plans for staffing during the next academic year. The meeting was held, the superintendent explained, so that staff would be involved in the planning process from its early stages.

The next day, Princeton met with their faculties and then with Dr. McPherson to report on each faculty meeting. At a Dr. McPherson, Wesley Johnson, a son of an incoming Princeton Mayor, Philip Johnson, and Richard Parsons, vice-president of the PTA, met together to talk about staff planning.

A stock session was held the same day, this time attended only with PTA officers and holding representative meetings such as that. The superintendent explained his intention to keep the PTA informed of all developments and action will be determined in detail probably in March.

Who's the Pipeline? The November 8 full faculty meeting was not an open forum, but the superintendent said that neither were the PTA nor the teachers asked to keep him informed confidentially. A lead news item in another conference, however, was revealed to the rest of Princeton School Council in the same meeting and he thought he knew his audience. He said that Council, which was known only to members of the Princeton Board of Education, had no official

CLOTHING SHOP ROBBED
OF $2000 IN MERCHANDISE.
Some $2,000 worth of clothing,
including 50 pullover sweaters,
100 pair of trousers and 20
jackets, were stolen last week from the Warehouse, 360 Nassau Street.

Mrs. Benjamin Judah, the owner, told Borough police that the theft took place between 5:15 p.m. and 10:20 Wednesday morning, when she discovered it. According to Ptl. Robert Mucciarelli, who investigated, a window on the east side of the building had been broken to gain entry.

TV Set Stolen. A television set valued at $315 was stolen between 11 and 3:30 Friday afternoon from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rowan Boone, 31 Greenhouse Drive. Police report entry was made through an unlocked door and that nothing else was taken.

Miss Evangeline Miller called Township police Friday evening to report that someone might be inside the Princeton Nursery School at 78 Leigh Avenue. She reported finding an unlocked kitchen window at the rear of the school and the screen ajar.

Ptl. John Hammond responded to her midnight call and checked the entire building with negative results.

ELOERLY MAN MUGGED

On North Harrison St. David Donald of Lloyd Terrace was mugged and robbed Friday night around 10:30 as he was walking on North Harrison Street.

Police report that the victim—in his 60s—was approached by two men. One threw a coal over his head and knocked Mr. Donald to the ground. Police said that he was not injured but his wallet was rifled and $60 taken.

FACES COURT BEARING

For Shoplifting. John Miller, 19, 7 Lytle Street, surrendered himself at Borough police headquarters last week, after he learned that police had a warrant for his arrest, charging him with shoplifting two pairs of trousers the week before from the Country Squire, 20 Nassau Street.

He was later released in $250 bail to await a court hearing December 6. Det. Timothy Huizing conducted the investigation.

SEMINAR SCHEDULED

By Borough Police. The Borough Police Department will sponsor another one of its Police-Community Relations Seminars in Borough Hall Monday through Wednesday.

Held twice a year, the seminars are conducted by the police in co-operation with the N.J. State Commission on Civil Rights. Attending will be members of the Borough, Township, and West Windsor police departments and prosecutors from the Princeton University Security department. This is the third year for the seminars.

"It does a couple of things," said Chief Michael Carnevale. "It makes law enforcement people conscious of the plight of minority groups and sensitive to the needs of the community. I feel if they really know the other side—what motivates minority groups—then they will be able to deal better with overall problems. I really feel they are worthwhile or we wouldn't do it," he said.

The seminars, Chief Carnevale continued, were only part of the overall program of community relations—"something we have to do on a daily basis, 24 hours a day."

Chief Carnevale reported that, in addition, he meets with each squad once a week. "It's an excellent way for me to relate community problems to the men—if there are community problems—and feelings about sensitive issues in the community."

"This is very important," he added, "because so many of our officers now live outside the community. This is one way that I have to make them aware of what's happening in Princeton so they can cope with day to day problems in a professional manner."

Hunters' Club Wins Delay on Firearms Ban

Hunters who belong to the Antlers Club have obtained a temporary court order which prevents the Township from enforcing against them its new firearms ban.

The restraining order, filed Friday in Superior Court, law division, applies only to members of the Antlers. Hunters who don't belong to the club are still subject to the new ordinance, which prohibits the discharge of firearms anywhere in the Township.

Committee was scheduled to decide in executive session Monday night what course of action to take.

New Member, Sanford Reynolds was sworn in as Township Committee member, replacing James A. Floyd, who resigned when he moved from Princeton. Mayor John D. Wallace announced Mr. Reynolds' appointment last week.

Committee voted in the Republican Mr. Reynolds, but Democrat Jay Bleiman abstained in the vote. From the audience, Elaine Schumann, 360 Jefferson Road, an active Township Democrat, said the appointment was "disappointing."

She added, "It's hard to understand why someone from other segments of the community wasn't named to replace Mr. Floyd."

A visitor from the Borough, Councilman Martin P. Lombardo, also chided Committee, declaring that Mr. Floyd, as a black, had brought a needed minority viewpoint. He also suggested that election results gave a mandate which Mayor Wallace had not heeded in naming a Republican.

Committeeman Barbara Smoyer protested that race was not a factor in the appointment, and she said Mr.

Reynolds had worked with many kinds of people in the community.

After Mayor Wallace remarked that no Democrats on Committee, Mr. Floyd included, had ever said the new appointment should be black, Mr. Bleiman said, "I'd be distressed if anyone felt I could not represent the interests of the black community. Mr. Floyd himself would feel that the person is more important than skin color."

IDA, in letters to the Citizens in Search of Peace and to Dr. Richard A. Leibler, head of the

TOPICS Of The Town

Institute for Defense Analyses, Committee has stated that a public hearing at this time on plans for IDA to build in the Township would serve no purpose.

The Citizens, whose spokesman is Mrs. Geulah Abrahams, want to keep IDA from moving into the Township. They have obtained 1,846 signatures on a protesting petition.

Both Mrs. Abrahams and Steve Slaby told Committee there are "compelling legal and moral reasons for holding the public hearing." Committee and its attorney, Gordon Griffin, unanimously believe there is no legal basis for denying IDA permission to build in the Office Research zone, where it proposes to erect its new quarters.

Mr. Slaby warned that his group is prepared for court action if necessary to try to stop IDA. He charged that this division of IDA, devoted to Communications Research, is a "threat to civil liberties," possibly doing research on data banks and sophisticated wire-tapping and eavesdropping devices.

He and Mrs. Abrahams expressed alarm over the fact that Dr. Leibler has obtained the petition and all its names. Mayor Wallace explained that such documents are public record.

So far, Mayor Wallace explained, IDA hasn't submitted to the Regional Planning Board its final plans nor has it applied for a building permit.

Ordinarily, Mr. Griffin warned, the building inspector doesn't inform Committee when building permits are granted; however, Mayor Wallace promised to ask the building officer, W.J. Shinn, to notify Committee when IDA applies for the permit.

Mr. Bleiman emphasized that there is no point in a hearing "at this time," implying that a hearing might be scheduled at a time Committee regards as appropriate. Mrs. Smoyer expressed fear that a public hearing would only be a divisive factor in the community.

Traffic experts in the state's Department of Transportation have rejected, for the moment, plans to re-work the Harrison-Valley intersection, reported Traffic Sgt. Anthony Nini. "Hamilton Township is supposed to have a worse section," he told Committee.

He said, however, that the vice-president of Travers Associates, the organization doing TOPICS traffic surveys, is optimistic about a traffic light at Valley-Harrison by spring or summer. The $41,000 project would also have a narrowed island for left turn stacking, he said.

The Township's most dangerous intersection is still Ewing State Road, he reported. State officials have, at Sgt. Nini's request, looked over the intersection, promising to work on drainage from underground springs that causes wet and then ice, in cold weather.

A diagram of proposed changes inside the Princeton Shopping Center was explained by Sgt. Nini. It involves a shifting of parking stalls, one-way flow and stricter no-parking regulations. If Committee passes ordinances activating the plan, Township police can then, for the first time, enforce smoother traffic in the Center.

When Mr. Slaby asked "Who's paying for all this engineering work involving a private corporation?" Mayor Wallace conceded that the Township itself had blocked out this particular plan, but he assured Mr. Slaby that the Center, and possibly its more or less, would be built for the $11,000 worth of work.

Goodbye. Without much in the way of a tear, the Township's own Planning Board went out of existence at 8:52 Monday night. Committee had just tied up the revised ordinance, and that revision was the board's only reason for existence.

In that final action, Committee left the west side of Witherspoon in the Business zone, and provided that people seeking a variance must go first to the Planning Board, then to the Zoning Board. The amendment relates to the Edward Knopf housing case, which the Planning Board wishes it had seen first. The Zoning Board has recommended that Mr. Knopf get his variance. The Planning Board opposed the recommendation.

William Sulphur, Planning Board member since 1966, said he thought it was a fine board. "I include my predecessors," he added, in some embarrassment. "It is without a peer in New Jersey, in level of competence," he declared. He is a lawyer who often appears before various planning bodies.

Mr. Blodman, who quotes Shakespeare now and again made up one of his own to mark the Planning Board's departure: "I thee shed," he intoned.

Thanks for the Recipe

If your turkey
Has wet feet,
A platter can provide
Some heat.

November has been a record month for wet feet, but the Man has some Thanksgiving cheer for all: no rain, he forecasts firmly, at least through Saturday.

Clouds there will be, and temperatures somewhat below normal, but we'll stay dry. That need not, he adds, apply to your Thanksgiving menu.

Take to the Township Board of Health a request from Borough Councilman Robert Hendry for an ordinance requiring see-through packaging of fresh meats and poultry.

Borough Council hopes to introduce such an ordinance soon, Mr. Hendry told Committee, in the interests of consumer protection. Lawrence Township's ordinance has been upheld in the courts, he said.

Mr. Lombardo outlined in detail the proposals he has before Borough Council providing for broader choices in appointing people to various boards, and asked the Township to follow along.

He drew Committeeman Dean Chace's ire when he criticized Township appointments as linked to political parties. "We do not make political appointments, and we don't need you here to lecture us on the way we do things!" Mr. Chace snapped. "We do them a lot better than you do in the Borough!"

Mr. Lombardo retorted by reminding Mr. Chace of the appointment of Mr. Reynolds, a Republican, to fill the place of a Democrat on Committee. Mayor Wallace said the Township is considering placing ads in local papers when vacancies exist on boards.

WOMAN IS VICTIM
Of Flim-Flam. A Township resident was flim-flamed of a sizeable sum of money Friday by two well-dressed women—the first such successful operation in the Township in some time.

The flim-flam began around 3 p.m. in the Princeton Shopping Center and culminated some three hours later when the victim notified the police. Police described one of the two perpetrators as 5'7 to 5'8 and very attractive. The other was described as about 5'4. Both were 29 to 30 years old and very well dressed police said.

Police said the victim, also a woman, was middle-aged and intelligent. The Township detective bureau is continuing the investigation.

Police gave this account:

The victim was approached by a well-spoken woman who claimed she had found $38,000 in $1,000 bills in an envelope. She wanted to cut the victim in on it as she didn't think it was right to keep it all herself. The second accomplice then approached and joined the conversation.

Still pretending not to know what to do, the two took their victim to a friend, supposedly a stock dealer who told them it was all right to keep the money since it was illegitimate. He offered to change the $1,000 bills into smaller denominations so the three could split it more easily.

Negotiations continued back and forth for some time, during which the victim withdrew a sum of money from her bank. The three met again and the victim turned over her "good faith" money. She was supposed to collect her share about 15 minutes later, police said.

When the 15 minutes were up, the victim, unable to find the other two, called the police.

News Of The THEATRES

FROM ALL AROUND
To Be In "Oklahoma"? The P.J. & B. annual musical has always drawn its cast from miles around, but this year it's hunkering down deeper in the Princeton community itself. 42 University students are in the cast, both as principals and chorus.

"Oklahoma?" will be given in four parts, starting with an opening night Thursday, December 7 and continuing Friday and Saturday, with a final matinee Saturday afternoon. The place, of course, is McCarter.

"... FOR KIDS"
At McCarter, "My Side of the Mountain," an award-winner from the 1960s, will be McCarter's treat for the young this Friday at 11 a.m. (Tickets, $1; at the door from 10 a.m.)

In "My Side of the Mountain," 13-year-old Sam runs away from home, equipped with only a microscope, a survival kit and his pet raccoon. He wants to prove he can live off the land for a year. He captures and tames a wild falcon, and encounters a wandering folk-singer (Theodore Bikel), who stumbles into Sam's camp and remains, to teach Sam wood and nature lore. Sam keeps a diary, and his entries show how he grows in self-reliance and resourcefulness.

FOUR, AT WILCOX

By Wilson College Theatre. University students affiliated with the Wilson College Theatre group will give four plays next weekend at the theatre of Wilcox Dining Hall.

The plays will be presented Friday, Saturday and Sunday, December 1, 2 and 3 at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited and there is no admission, although members of the group will ask for contributions.

On the four-sided program will be "Dr Khef," by Marna Farnes; "The Seeing-Eye Dog with an Eye for Women," by Jim Magnuson, Chicago," by Sam Shepard and "George Washington Crossing the Delaware" by Kenneth Koch.

Mr. Magnuson will direct all the plays except "Chicago," which is under the guidance of Richard Knapp of the University's English faculty. Mr. Magnuson is the resident playwright at the University, holding the Huddler Fellowship. Normally, the Fellowship is awarded for one year only, but the University has twice renewed Mr. Magnuson's award and he is now in his third year.

ORGAN RECITALS MONDAY

At Westminster. Organist David Craighead will present two identical recitals at Westminster Choir College on Monday. These recitals, which are open to the public without charge, will be given in the Casavant Recital Hall at 5:30 and 8 p.m. Because seating is limited, passes will be required and may be obtained by calling the College at (212) 7100.

Mr. Craighead will play Mozart's "Fantasy in F minor," K. 608; "Four Noels" by Dussek; Vincent Persichetti's "Parable for Organ," which was commissioned for the 1972 national convention of the American Guild of Organists held in Dallas, Texas; a work by Bach as yet to be determined, and "Three Etudes" by Demessieux.

PIECES TUESDAY

By PHS Alumni. Contralto Jane Young Sharaf, who joined the Westminster faculty this year as an instructor of voice, will present a Faculty Recital in the Westminster Choir College Playhouse on Tuesday at 8 p.m. Mrs. Sharaf will be accompanied by another faculty member, Diane Rivera.

Mrs. Sharaf is a 1959 graduate of Princeton High School, and holds both the Bachelor and Master of Arts degrees from the University of Illinois. Prior to joining the Westminster faculty, she was an associate professor of music at the University of California Santa Barbara.

Mr. Sharaf's program will include works by Handel, Schubert, Richard Strauss and Brahms, cantata no. 51 "Wachet auf, ruft die Sonne;" by Bach, and three composed from her husband, Frederic. This recital is open to the public without charge.

GARDEN. You'll Like My Mother now plays. It has been called to our city's entertainment. Gothic horror! It's a thriller centering upon a pregnant young widow who arrives unannounced at her mother-in-law's manor. Her reception is as cold as the snow outside.

There's someone else in the house, a tenant who has behaved violently in the past, and also the young woman's only ally, the strange Keith

David Craighead

Iren, whom her husband had never mentioned.

The cast features Patty Duke as the young widow, Francesca, Rosemary Murphy as her menacing mother-in-law, Sean Barbara Allen as Keith, abetted by a "spooky mansion. It's the kind of soap opera that would fall off its own weight if Francesca had just picked up the phone."

PRINCE

Rage now playing. A George C. Scott film from Warner Bros. The story concerns one man's revenge against the Army for the destruction of his land and the death of his son. (Not reviewed at press time.)

PLAYHOUSE

Fiddler on the Roof (now playing). The Broadway musical about Jewish life in Czarist Russia village is blown up high wide and hand-made in the film version. Israeli actor Topol, with his rich singing voice, excels as Tevye the milkman who copes with poverty with the aid of a generous sense of humor. It is a bogus quotes from the Scriptures and many conversations with God.

Shtetl in Anatevka, a Jewish village concerned with poverty and much dependence on tradition (without it, life would be as shaky as a fiddler on the roof). The musical focuses on Tevye and the changes that come into his world.

There are some lovely sequences, the celebration of the Sabbath. Tevye's lyrical song about becoming a rich man, a candlelit wedding ceremony and even an imaginatively staged nightmare scene.

Of the cast, Topol is the most skilled. His Tevye is a rich vital characterization, a joyous performance that carries the whole production.

If you like town topics, the best way to express your appreciation is to mention it to our advertisers.

IT'S NEW To Us

As you go out The Great Road these early mornings, the frost is deep on the meadow at Coventry Farm, sparkling in the slant of the sun. Across the way, the corn stands silvery white. And everywhere, old trees loom tall and intricately beautiful, their leaves in ruffled piles at their feet.

So comes the holiday season, Thanksgiving to Christmas, and including Chanukah. There is much to enjoy — from the kitchen aromas and the family parties to the special concerts by the church choirs, the Westminster Choir and Columbus Boychoir, and the annual performance by the Ballet Society.

Interspersed with it all is gift shopping, and we give you herewith a wanning of the offerings in the Princeton shops:

Gifts for Little Doers
On Palmer Square, The Clothesline is alight with ideas for doing grandmothers, from Christmas bibs to party dresses to stuffed toys. The moppet-size robes (sizes 4 to 12, with a few smaller) feature a quilted blue nylon touched with white lace at the collar and again in two vertical lines leading to the hem. White pearl buttons in two rows finish it off. ($11.50)

And to match mom's peignoir, a very feminine little gown and robe in softest pink, the gown is nylon and the robe is sheer, prettily touched

A Selection of Games for All Ages

New games for all ages include The Pyramid, a brain teaser composed simply of four pieces that come apart and rejoin to form a pyramid. Your parking meter will run out before you solve it. The Game Room.

Ecology kits, pollution detectors and other environmental kits (about $9.95); and two strategy games for the tough-minded adult; Carapace, a chess fanatics' special, and Vector, with one playing piece maneuvered by two players. (Both games from Harvard braintasters, both $6.95) Toy Carousel.

For broiling vegetables the easy way, aluminum sizzle platters, with excellent instruction booklet. ($17). The Cummins Shop.

Handmade belts of finest leather, hand-tooled in extra ordinary designs — each belt is unique. (From $12) The Artisan.

with a ruffle. ($9) In another Ion Shopping Center, next to mood, blue-and-white gingham the bakery, is a gold mine for check in a high-waisted little genuinely child-oriented gifts.

There are turtles the size of a quilted robe. Just in are toddlers' smocked hasseok; beautifully dressed dresses in tiny prints, with dolls with lots of play value; deep hemmed, and quaint denim pre-school things from Europe overalls patched here and there with plaid. Lined in red, and a matching red shirt.

Christmas dresses for little girls — red velvet with Irish lace (also deep blue velvet), red corduroy with a red ribbon threaded through the white lace at the throat and end of the small sleeve. Little brother dress-ups, in toddler sizes, includes a long-sleeved, navy velvet suit offset by a white collar. There's also a red corduroy short-all with an amusing gingham applique.

The Toy Carousel has the "banned list" for you to peruse. It's the list of toys that government inspectors have found unsafe to buy. There is only one battery operated game in the shop, and we saw none of the television-advertised toys.

To take you around with us: ingratiating stuffed animals from Animal Fair; long-eared Henry is a puppy that looks like Snoopy; blue walrus, sprawled frogs; arch tigers; pert giraffes; chipmunks and a small red puppy. The animals come in various sizes, labeled clearly as to content. Figure about $3.50 and $4.95 for the standard sizes.

on and off; preferred hair and skin color are available. We were enchanted by a baby bunting ($9). Sunbonneted little figures, too, maybe three feet high.

Pre-school games and puzzles are mostly well under $6 in price. The European designs are fresh and amusing. Puzzles for every age, including handsewn wooden ones for the moppets.

Family games include Cook's Tour, and Eye Witness, a challenge to the memory ($3.95). Peanut Butter & Jelly is for primary school grades. Players make a sandwich and for older kids, the classics, such as Monopoly and Diplomacy, plus Newtown (create a city) and "The Next President."

The Toy Carousel is open until 9 p.m. Monday through Friday until Christmas.

The Christmas window at The Cummins Shop on Nassau Street will give you a flying start on gift ideas: dried flower arrangements tucked into lucite paperweights; and music boxes topped with Hummel children. Snoopy in a space helmet, the Three Kings, and birds in their gold cages (from $10 to $30).

Inside, the lacy white Christmas tree is trimmed with reflecting mirrors ($75), with wee angels on holly leaves, nesting birds ($1.25); nativity scenes; and more even Italian snowflakes gold, of course, or silver.

Grandma's Supplies

Allen's Children's Center, 134 Nassau Street, comes to the rescue of the new grandmother, with an assortment of equipment. Miniature rockers and pint-sized upholstered chairs, some with music boxes hidden inside. (From $10.) And toy boxes to cope with the scatter problem and also to serve when empty as an imaginary craft. ($20.)

At gates for doorways and for the top of the stairs, bedrolls to keep small sleepers from rolling off big beds, and car beds that convert to a bassinet. For a gift, there's 20% off the car seats, which meet Federal safety standards.

A whole gamut of suggestions: clear lucite frames for snap shots and photographs. You can start yours in an open lucite book ($9) or put eight small photos on a black acrylic base.

For the boy-to-be who grieves you a bit blushed from his exertions, a set of six demitasse spoons ($8.50) or jam dishes with the lids embellished with a slice of orange or a cluster of grapes. Or, from Boothbay Harbor, the Anderson wildlife porcelains, a bluejay larger than life with two fledglings nearby; or the oval vase with a tranquil silhouette of birches ($34). The Andersons, a husband and wife team, use Maine feldspar, flint, beach sand and marine clays in their interesting designs.

Christmas placemats in oval shape have matching napkins. A table runner with a holly berries and green leaves design is about 46 inches wide and 72 inches long. And also for the table, full size cloths in a light, cheery red with a frill of fringe in two tones of moss green.

Ice buckets. There are some new designs to replace the Old Wooden Bucket. We noticed four at Cummins, and suppose we missed a few. A cutting board and cheese knife are tucked onto the top of a wood bucket in a space-saving idea for $11.50. Choose slim black and silver for a crowded serving area (great for a night-table tool). $10. The elegant, clear lucite bucket helps you keep an eye on the supply of ice. The top is heavily weighted and the bucket is handied and knifed in gold ($25). For one armed bartender, smidged chrome ice buckets with an easy-open top — just push the handle and the top lifts up.

Cummins has a good collection of wood for the table: pepperinills in walnut and other woods ($6 up). A gift set, nicely boxed, includes two mills, whole black pepper and natural salt grains. In America black walnut, a nut bowl with four picks and a nut cracker with the bowl epoxy coated for easy hand washing.

Let us make no mistake about the McCosh audiences. Chamber Players as the Marlboro programs account for an evening of contemporary three of them. symptoms or outright rejection, but the problem must be dealt with hopefully, soon. The Da Capo Chamber Players presented a concert of mostly new works by John Harbison, a native Princetonian, David Noon, Elaine Barkin, John Heiss and Joan Tower. Arnold Schönberg's "Kammersymphonie", Op. 9, in an arrangement by Webern, represented the "old chestnut" of the evening's fare; quite an irony, if one recalls the reception given the work at its premiere.

The members of the Da Capo Chamber Players include Patricia Swener, flute; Alan Blasius, clarinet; Joel Les ter, violin; Helen Harbison, violoncello; and Joan Tower, piano. Of the newer composers represented, this listener found Mr. Harbison's "Four Preludes" (from December Music) John Heiss's Quartet and Joan Tower's Hexachords for Flute to be of considerable excellence in conception, craft and feeling.

For the most part, the performances were sensitive realizations of the music. Mr. Blasius is a fine clarinetist. Mr. Lester's performance of David Noon's "Cadenza" for Solo Violin was quite fine. The music is highly idiomatic but pseudo Bartok and Piane recks of the Capriccio, in other words, competently written but unimpressively eclectic. The music is highly idiomatic but pseudo Bartok and Piane ment for Piano Quintet by Webern. Webern always strove for clarity in his music and in this setting, Schoenberg's early hybrid composition comes off as the brilliant post-Brahmsian work that it is. In the small orchestral original, it leans more toward the future, but in the quintet treatment it reflects the "Manheim School thru Brahms" chamber music tradition. The Da Capo Chamber players delivered a good solid reading, although the piano was too loud and the flute and cello tones were often lost in the sonorous mixture.

Princetonians Find Devastation in Wilkes-Barre Is Still Extreme

Five Princetonians and a friend from Washington, D.C., worked in flood-ruined Wilkes-Barre, Pa., on a rainy Saturday this month.

"More water is one thing they don't need up there!" said a member gloomily on return. Divided into two teams, they cleaned the mud out of a widow's cellar, painted newly-renovated interiors, did some digging, scraping and spackling at two other houses.

"This was an investigative trip. We were not sure of the need," Mrs. Ruth Bortell of First Presbyterian Church's church and society committee reports.

"There's no question of the need!" she continues. "Particularly as people are reaching the point of discouragement as winter is closing in . . ."

Two cars went up from Princeton, leaving at 8 a.m. and returning between 6 and 7 p.m. They delivered nine cartons of books from Firestone Library to Wilkes College, which lost its entire book collection in the flood caused by tropical storm Agnes. They took kitchen utensils to the warehouse maintained by Wilkes-Barre's Inter-Faith Flood Recovery group.

Saturday's work crew included Mrs. Henry Broad, Miss Elizabeth Crawford, Herbert Dawson, Mr. and Mrs.

Bruce Van Sant, and, from Washington, Mrs. William Schmidt, who joined in because this was something she wanted to do.

Car Crews. "What's really needed up there right now is the small group work crew." Mrs. Bortell notes. "As you go along the streets, you see neat piles of rubbish in front of the houses, but you have no idea of the devastation until you see inside! Empty rooms — no furniture, walls destroyed, mud . . .

"We worked in a house where there was a 2-year-old and a 4-year-old, and no heat. Another house had just had the heat turned on the day before."

The Princeton group made its arrangements to work in Wilkes-Barre through Inter-Faith Flood Recovery. The two-months old group united the Wyoming Valley churches in the flood recovery effort, established a warehouse and is serving as a clearing house for volunteer groups.

Five months after the disaster, Wilkes-Barre is in various stages of reconstruction. "A lot of people are just holding up and not doing anything until spring," Mrs. Bortell reports. "That's why, at the moment, small work units are needed. Four or five carloads of volunteers would be assigned to four or five different places. The large groups of young people and adults will be needed next spring."

Present Needs. The Princeton group found that there's a need for skilled carpenters, electricians, plumbers, plasterers, painters. The need for non-skilled cleaning help is diminishing, but there is need for people to act as morale builders, showing concern.

They also report that the flood victims' most pressing physical needs right now are desks and chests of drawers. Close behind them come small and large appliances, ironing boards, unfitted sheets, clocks, radios, throw rugs, kitchen utensils, teapots, dishes, canary cookbooks and dictionaries, humidifiers, vaporizers, mittens, wool caps, scarves and boots (that other clothing articles are in good supply in the warehouse). Also paperback books for the library; quilts, slippers and nightshirts. All in good, usable condition.

Mrs. Bortell, who holds a job at the Institute for Advanced Study, observes, "It would be useful if Princeton could organize a central depot for those things that are so desperately needed and arrange to get them up there."

Moral Low. Far more subtle than the physical damage she says, is the great discouragement. In the Inter-Faith Flood Recovery bulletin, William Walton writes,

"For a little while put yourself in the place of a 1972 flood victim . . . Somebody of your age — with your job gone problems — your hopes — your dreams. Since Agnes, all this has changed. Your job is gone, your health affected, your dreams washed out. You have a strange new home in a new HUD trailer park. The family Bible, the wedding pictures, the knick-knacks are gone forever. The winter solstice is coming. How would you act?"

Cheerful Friends, for some time we have been concerned that volunteers coming into this area might feel that their efforts were not appreciated. We have had reports back from volunteers that people here seemed rather unappre-ciable and in some cases rather hostile. It is extremely difficult for many people to understand the extreme emotional strain and frustration that is present in this area and is growing every day . . ."

The coming holiday season, for Christians and Jews alike, in Wilkes-Barre promises little. Those who would like to take a handful of volunteers to help out, give Inter-Faith Flood Recovery five days' notice. "It is very well organized. If you go, you are useful — provided that you tell them what you can do," Mrs. Bortell advises. "Call 717-835-7733, or write to Robert N. Hallett, director, Inter-Faith Flood Recovery, 140 E. Northampton Street, Wilkes-Barre, Pa."

"We were just exploring the need when we went," she muses. "It is tremendous."

Regional School Administrators Reply to Ad

To the Editor, Town Topics: Administrators of the Princeton Regional Schools feel compelled to respond to the advertisement that appeared in last week's Town Topics regarding alleged plans for administrative reorganization in our schools. I have been directed by the Princeton Regional Administrators Association to make the following statement:

Our group, in fact, is presently developing recommendations for administrative reorganization that we hope will be responsive to a variety of changing circumstances within the schools. In our eyes, this planning process represents responsible management.

The plan described in the ad does not correspond to the "intention" of any member of our group nor do we understand it to represent the "intention" of the Superintendent. At best, the described plan is a gross distortion of the ideas that the Superintendent has presented for our consideration. Moreover, a cursory examination of the current administrative organization will show that the ad is in error.

The administrators, and indeed the entire school community, welcomes responsible inquiry. Regardless of individual intentions or motives, inquiry that is irresponsible leads to "instability and confusion" within the school and the community at large. We value the contributions of an informed community and are concerned about the damaging effects of misinformation and distortion.

Once again, we urge members of our community to assess the sources and accuracy of information. Current information is an essential basis for responsible participation in school affairs.

EUGENE BIRINGER
President
Princeton Regional
Administrators
Association

Editor's note: All 11 administrators in the school system belong to the PRRAA. Not all members were present when the above letter was drafted in its final form, but according to Mr. Biringer, all 11 knew of the letter. He declined to say how many of the administrators present when the letter was approved voted in favor of publishing it.

"Intolerable Affiliation"

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As a staff member of the Princeton Regional Schools, I object strongly to the vilifying remarks made about the Coordinator of Staff Development in the November 16 "Parent for Princeton School Children" ad. It is intolerable that one's administration's reputation should be attacked in so irresponsible a manner, particularly since defense or rebuttal is so difficult. The possibility that anyone of us can be subjected to such an arbitrary, smutty, untrue attack cannot help but be damaging to staff morale.

As is true of the ad in general, the statements about Dr. Vieland are reflections of the truth. I respect Dr. Vieland as a talented, highly skilled colleague. She has been helpful to me and to many staff members, and she has made valuable contributions to the schools (including the Wednesday Program) which was never wholly longingly recognized by our staff a few weeks ago.

I object too to the constant harassment of the school administration. Our administrators are far more open to criticism, willing to consider and implement change, and supportive of professional growth, than those in other school systems with which I have been associated. It is fortunate that most parents recognize this, and when criticism is called for, offer it in a constructive, appropriate manner.

University Names Youngest Full Professor

Charles L. Fefferman, described as the "outstanding mathematical analyst of his generation," whose research and teaching have won wide renown, returns to Princeton at age 23 as the youngest full professor in the University's 226-year history. He earned his Princeton Ph.D. at 20 and in 1971, at 22, was appointed a full Professor of Mathematics at The University of Chicago and full Professor in 1971.

Dr. Fefferman's appointment to the Princeton Faculty is effective next September. Following a year's leave of absence without salary, he will assume his duties here with the opening of the academic year 1974-75.

A native of the Washington, D.C. area, he first became interested in mathematics in the fourth grade. "I was extremely interested in chemistry and physics, but was completely snowed by the physics texts I tried to read," he said in an interview. "My father suggested that in order to understand physics, I'd have to learn mathematics. When I began studying mathematics, I lost interest in physics."

With his father, an economist, and his mother, "who hated mathematics," he lived in Silver Spring, Maryland, and began "sitting in" on mathematics courses at the University of Maryland in nearby College Park while attending junior high school. Faculty members at the University of Maryland arranged for him to enroll as a full-time college student.

Maryland Law forbade the admission to state universities of students lacking a high school diploma, but a change in the regulations was made for Dr. Fefferman, and he entered the University of Maryland as a Samuel K. Kerr Jr., of Titusville; November 19; St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Pennington.

The bride, a graduate of Pennshur High School, is employed by the New Jersey Manufacturers Insurance Company. Her husband is an alumnus of Hopewell Valley Central High School, the University of Tennessee and Rider College. He is also employed by New Jersey Manufacturers Insurance. The couple will live in Levittown.

freshman in 1963 at the age of 14. Three years later he earned the B.S. degree and was bound for Princeton and the Ph.D., which he received in 1969. He was a lecturer in mathematics at Princeton in 1969-70, and in 1970 was named Assistant Professor in the Department of Mathematics at The University of Chicago and full Professor in 1971.

As a Sloan Fellow at Chicago in 1970 he did research on Fourier series, a field of advanced mathematics essential to the development of atomic physics; he spent six months of 1971 at the Institut Mittag-Leffler, outside Stockholm, as a NATO Postdoctoral Fellow. In 1971 he also received the Prix Salem, the world's top mathematics prize in his specialty, harmonic analysis and Fourier series.

His stay in Sweden enabled him to study, as he put it, "at the feet of one of the masters of the field, Lennart Carleson," according to Dr. Fefferman, there are a few world masters in the Fourier series, and he wants to study with as many of these as possible.

shaped gourds from Mali and straw figures from Mexico.

CONSIDER THE ARTS

A gift that increases in value with the years is the hand-signed and numbered graphic, such as those by Matisse, Vasarely, Picasso, Roualt, Dali, Braque and Pascin—all of whom are represented at the Princeton Gallery of Fine Art, a friendly and helpful browsing place at 8 Spring Street, just off Witherspoon. Prices range from $20 to $1,800.

Warren Drewes is featured in the current show. His small oils on parchment and on canvas and his watercolors reflect his interest in abstract art and nature over a period of some 30 years. ($135-$195).

For those who like to string their own necklaces, The Workroom has old beads of all kinds, from silver to carved wood to shell, ($7.50 to $1.50). And curious glass boxes with brass edges in square, angular and triangle shapes to put them in.

The handcraft is intriguing: an afghan of heavy brown and white wool ($22); leather shoulder bags; intricate basketry from Harrar, Ethiopia with cowrie shell trim and—for a natural Christmas tree, dipper.

The Artisan, at 30 Witherspoon Street, shows in a microcosm the wide-ranging arts of today—from ceramics to blown glass shapes to limited edition graphics, to woven wall hangings to jewelry, wood etchings and original oils and watercolors. Almost 70 artists and craftsmen are represented.

Blown glass in a swirl of color appears in abstract shapes and in useful bowls and goblets made by Peter Bramhall of Vermont and by Charles Luther of Colorado. (From $9).

The ceramic wine sets by Nonie Barnes of Lambertville area are a soft earth brown, lined in white—a jug and four goblets. From Libby Pottery in New Hampshire, flameware casseroles and frying pans that go from the stove to the table in a most attractive way. The casseroles are in a variety of sizes and prices; the fry pan we noticed is $8.50. From the same source, wide and shallow bowls for many uses.

The head of the ceramics department at Syracuse University, Henry Gerhardt, applies unique glazes to his work. There are bowls ($5 up), large pieces for the garden; and great platters as large as 19 inches in diameter. Also bake-and-serve platters in oval shapes, ($8). All of the shop pottery for table use is lead-free, and safe to use.

For the nature lover, hanging planters in interesting design; ceramic bird houses which intrigue the birds, too. Some extraordinary weavings by Pat Kern, Gladys Hossington, Lore Lindenfeld, Betty Park and, a newcomer, Kay Autrey.

We saw Ann Mitchell's sea scenes; Elizabeth Ruggles' drawings and oils; Judy Graeze's romantic, medieval figures etched on wood; Spacher's metal sculptures; ename-led and silver jewelry by the Nagys and by Staffelberg; handblown glass paperweights; batik velvet pillows; stained glass sculpture and decorative sandcastings.

neckties—and offers interliners in a 60c Kit. Pattern, too, of course. For fabric, consider a silky printed polyester or cotton in the traditional feather print or navy-with-gold coin shapes.

All the advice and help you need, short of the actual sewing, is the hallmark of this friendly shop. They will show you how to make in matching washable polyesters with the wool-look. The selection includes traditional green and blue plaids; navy or black checks; blue or light green herringbone and a soft gray-with-gold small plaid as well as solid colors. The materials are $1.10 per yard; $5 a yard, and with that width, you won't need much yardage.

If you are going to make the chic palazzo pants Mrs. Lucille Carnesale and Mrs. Eleanor Nelson will advise you on how to avoid the weary pajama look by choosing the proper fabric weight, the drapery of the material and to line or not to line.

There's time to make a night blouse, pink and peach, ($6 in skirt for a festive evening). There are also

Hand-Carved Frames from Mexico

Unusual handcarved wooden frames from Mexico have just arrived at the Eye for Art, 7 Spring Street, (just off Witherpoon). The carving is done after the frame is assembled, so the design continues around, well matched. Then's intricate workmanship in the $30 frame we saw which had a hand-rubbed patina of gold leaf and black ($15). Others are in a simpler style in gold or silver leaf ($13, same size). A typical Spanish black-and-gold carved frame comes with the burlap liner ($15.50).

The frames are a fantastic find, sizes vary widely and the prices are unusual. If you'd like to use one to frame a mirror, Mrs. Helen Benedict will have the glass inserted for you.

At the Fabric Center, 151 Nassau Street, a fab of 2 yards or slightly less in 45-inch wide quilted fabric ($1 per yard). Among the fabrics is a singing print of birds in shades of orange and/or gold, or coat, or jacket, or pants fabric; others have deep, dark backgrounds. Consider, too, each covers the Fabric Center has stocked a choice of stained glass window of eight colors, ($1.98 per sq yd.) plaid, and the collection of one-of-a-kind pieces of material about four yards each.

Make a unisex African Dashiki to top a pair of pants.

Over on Witherpoon Street The Fabric Center offers glimmering "eyelash" broacades, softly gleaming imports from France. These are incredibly easy to put together; the designs are in 16-yard lengths on the bolt (48 inches wide) and you just cut the neck along the design edge, sew the sides, shaping a little, if you want, and hem. The prints are dramatic and colorful including a gold and brown that caught our fancy. The fabric is cotton.

You can make an afghan, a robe, jacket, a vest, pullover, cover pants, or a swinging skirt from the Orion sun fabrics. Pink and peach, as well as the expected red colors, $3.10 to $4.50 per yard. Or think Aztec prints in cotton for a pants top or combined with Terry for a robe, with lassered cord for a belt, ($1.80 per yard). Navy and purple tones predominate in some; brown rust blue in another.

And for bulletin board projects or a new folding screen cover, burlap. In 10-inches (50 inches wide), $1.50 per yard, no flaws, and washable! Make a burlap toy bag with a wire hanger as a base, adding felt cutouts for trim or mount your teenager's favorite collection of photo cards and ribbons on a burlap background.

HADASSAH SPEAKER: Peckie Wilonsky, shown here with some of her plants from her business, Peckie's Plants, will speak in her home to Hadassah members, Wednesday, November 29, on "Decorating with House Plants."

News Of Clubs and Organizations

Hadassah will sponsor a supplies shower as part of its regular monthly meeting Wednesday, November 29 at 8:15 p.m., at the home of Peckie Wilonsky, 600 Lake Drive.

Mrs. Wilonsky, who has parlayed hobby into a business called Peckie's Plants, will speak to the group about "Decorating with House Plants." In her informal discussion, she will provide hints for the frustrated indoor gardener and will lead the group through a tour of her green house and indoor "garden," a collection of unusual potted plants. Mrs. Wilonsky has conducted workshops, talked to garden clubs and is currently teaching a course at the Y on interior plant designing.

Donations for supplying layette items and the linen closet of the Hadassah Medical Center in Jerusalem will be accepted at the meeting. All the needed supplies will be purchased in Israel; thus Hadassah's contributions support the Israeli textile industry as well as the hospital.

For those unable to attend, contributions can be made by sending a check payable to Princeton Hadassah to Mrs. Ted Begun, 35 Van Wyck Drive, Princeton Junction 08550.

St. Paul's PTA 8 p.m., Monday in the school auditorium. Guest speakers for the evening will be Detective Douglas A. Watson and Sergeant Thomas D. Procaccino, both of the Borough Police Department. Detective Watson is the Juvenile Officer, a position he has held since August. Sergeant Procaccino is the former Juvenile Officer, prior to his transfer to the Uniform Patrol.

Both will speak and show the various amphetamines, barbiturates, as well as the various symptoms and effects of each type of drug.

Following their presentation, refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

Kingston First Aid and Rescue Squad 8 p.m. Monday, at the Franklin State Bank Community Room. Election of officers will be held.

Benson fruit cake and Birn Christmas candles are being sold by members of the Squad now, and will also be sold at the December 3 Bazaar of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Kingston Fire Company. The Squad's table at the Bazaar will feature other holiday items.

The Squad would like to again thank the people of the community for the help and support they have given during the past few months of fund raising activities. There has been much success, and the Squad still plans to go into operation on January 1.

The Annual Holiday Bazaar sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Princeton First Aid & Rescue Squad will be held this Saturday from 10 a.m.

NOTICE
Those wishing to have articles published in the "News of Clubs and Organizations" column should submit them no later than noon Monday, the week of publication. Earlier copy will be appreciated.

at the Harrison Street Squad

Princeton Chapter of Parents Without Partners 8 p.m., Tuesday, at the First Presbyterian Church. Mr. Robert P. Bonino, Director of Admissions Services at Rutgers, will speak on "Problems of College Selection and Admission". Guests are welcome.

The Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah" will be sung by the Hightstown Choral Society on Sunday, December 3, at 4 in Piddle Chapel, Hightstown. The society, under the direction of Dorothy Hartley, numbers more than 60 voices. The concert will have the accompaniment of orchestral musicians in this area. Admission is free.

Clogs remain on the scene for winter, but with nailheads added. Hult's has some interesting boots, too, for the ladies with sleek legs — in smooth leathers, vinyls and suedes. Heels vary in size. All by Carter.

For all sizes, smallest to largest, sturdy Wafflestomper hiking boots for the whole family, starting with small children's size 9.

At The Wearhouse, in Princeton Plaza, an extraordinary collection of belts. Glamour types to wear with party skirts or pants—in stretch gold or silver mesh ($4). Slender wrap and tie belts with tassel ($3), and unusual sneakers with buckles you'd never have dreamed of. Prices are low, here as Wearhouse discounts. Here you'll also find those sleek little mohair soft sweaters, with lambwool and a synthetic added to take away the itch. Sleek, ribbed styles for the most part.

The Natural Way.

The Whole Earth Center, Princeton Plaza, has recycled Christmas cards — the paper is recycled, not the design, thus saving wear and tear on the forests. A box is $3.75 (single cards also available), and there is also attractive note paper in a pretty fern print. ($2 per box).

For milady's bath, natural Loofa. Soak it well before using it in the tub. ($1.13). For tea time — natural herb teas, sassafras and rosehip are healthful as well as different.

Chopsticks to stuff into a stocking ($1.25 cents), or a copy of Mother Earth News ($1.35) which gives information on how to make vinegar, root beer, how to make a rug from scraps, and odd bits of information, such as how to buy a tahoe.

Whole Earth has the Balkan yogurt maker ($9.95), and a really wild and wonderful assortment of books, including Adelle Davis's "Let's Cook It Right" and the New York Times' Natural Foods Cook Book.

PEOPLE In The News

Nick Gaudioso, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gaudioso, 17 Oakland Road, is a member of the Mercer County Community College soccer team, which is playing in the Junior College tournament finals this week in St. Louis. He captained the Princeton High team last year.

Mike Moss, son of Mrs. R. Moss, 6 Cherry Brook Drive, gave a trumpet concert November 5 at Wesleyan University Middletown, Conn., in the Memorial Chapel.

A 1969 graduate of Princeton High School, Mr. Moss's program included works by Purcell, Gabrieli, Stevens, Prael, Morley and Nehring.

Mrs. Carla Fredericks, 351 State Road, will act as moderator of a panel discussion of employer interview and job hunting techniques being given for the senior class of Douglass College in New Brunswick on November 30. Mrs. Fredericks, who has served in this capacity in the past, is owner of the Personnel Service bearing her name at 20 Nassau Street.

Professor Courtland D. Perkins, 621 Lake Drive, Chairman of Princeton University's Department of Aerospace and Mechanical Sciences, has been awarded "The Exceptional Civilian Service Decoration" for 27 years of service to the U.S. Air Force Scientific Advisory Board (SAB), the last three of them as Chairman.

This major award is the second high honor the 59-year-old Princeton scientist has received this fall. In September he was honored with the Von Kármán Medal of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in recognition of his years of service to NATO's Advisory Group for Aerospace Research and Development (AGARD), the NATO equivalent of the U.S. Air Force's SAB.

Professor Perkins, an expert in airplane performance and stability control, joined the Princeton faculty in 1945. He has twice taken leaves of absence to serve the Department of Defense: in 1956-57 as Chief Scientist of the U.S. Air Force and in 1960-61 to accept appointment by President Eisenhower as Secretary of the Air Force for Research and Development.

At Princeton, where he has been serving as full Professor since 1947, Perkins was appointed Chairman of the Aeronautical Engineering Department in 1951 and in 1963, with the consolidation of two departments assumed his present position while also serving as Associate Dean of the School of Engineering and Applied Science, a post he held for eight years.

Dr. G. Reginald Bishop Jr., 160 Wilson Road, dean of instruction and professor of French at Rutgers College of Rutgers University, has been appointed acting dean of the college, effective January 1.

He will serve until a replacement is named for Dr. Arnold B. Graham, current dean, who has resigned to accept a position as a vice-chancellor at the University of Illinois.

A native of Altoona, Pa., Dr. Bishop earned his Bachelor of Arts, Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degrees at Princeton University. He served in the U.S. Army from 1943-1946.

Dr. Bishop joined the Rutgers College faculty in 1952. A member of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic society, he was awarded a Ford Foundation Fellowship for the 1954-55 academic year. He was an appointed assistant dean in 1960; associate dean in 1963 and to his present post in 1969.

Mrs. Ruth B. Roufberg, 22 Campbell Road, Kendall Park is author of a new guide to preschool playthings that help parents choose appropriate toys for their children.

The book, "Your Child from Two to Five Years," is based on Mrs. Roufberg's experience at Parents' Magazine, Creative Playthings and The Learning Child. She is now associated with Small World Enterprises, Inc., 1 Palmer Square, Princeton, which is the parent organization of "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood," the public television program for children.

Within each age group, Mrs. Roufberg's book describes toys according to their function, whether for physical exercise, dramatic play, intellectual development, etc. She then suggests what to buy, where to find it, and how to use it. Also included are money-saving suggestions on making playthings at home.

Robert A. Seltzer, Jr., 40 Morgan Place, has joined Booz, Allen and Hamilton, Inc. of New York. Formerly Director of Foundation Relations and Project Coordinator for International and Regional Studies at Princeton University, Mr. Seltzer will be associated with the firm's International Management Department.

An A.B. graduate of Princeton's Class of 1961, Mr. Seltzer served as an Air Intelligence Officer in the U.S. Navy and with the commercial department of United States Steel before returning to Princeton as a University Administrator. From 1966 to 1969 he was Assistant to the Dean in the School of Engineering and Applied Science. After a short leave of absence at the First National City Bank, evaluating new financial services, Mr. Seltzer moved to the Office of Development in 1969 where he managed the University's efforts in the foundation market, from which Princeton derives over 20 percent of its capital income.

Gerald B. Herzog, 40 Linden Circle, was one of two University of Minnesota alumni awarded citations for outstanding achievement at the annual Institute of Technology alumni meeting in Minneapolis.

Mr. Herzog, a 1950 graduate of the University, is Director of the Solid State Technology Center for RCA Laboratories. As a researcher, he helped design and construct the first transistorized television receiver.

In the past, he has been awarded two RCA achievement awards and the David Sarnoff Outstanding Team Award in Science. Mr. Herzog is the author of many papers and the holder of 22 patents for semiconductor devices and applications.

John R. Wilmet of 25 Howe Circle has joined Wyer, Dick & Co., consultants in transportation economics and management, as an assistant vice president. # Oft-Beaten Tigers Still Have Shot at First-Division Ivy Finish Princeton's football team—occasionally successful beyond expectations but more often distinctly outclassed—can nonetheless write a highly satisfactory finish to the 1972 season Saturday if it can somehow contrive to beat Cornell. Palmer Stadium kickoff time is 1:30.

Beaten convincingly by Colgate and Penn and overwhelmed by Dartmouth and Yale, the Tigers still come into the final game on the schedule with a chance to climb into a tie for first-division berth in the Ivy standings. If they win while Harvard is losing to Yale, they will share fourth place with the Crimson—a markedly better achievement than had been forecast for them when sights were first set on the current campaign. Trimming Cornell will, how-

Brought to you

How did the custom of cheering and cheer leaders start in football? . . . When the first intercollegiate game was played in 1869 between Princeton and Rutgers, Princeton players got the idea of trying to upset Rutgers players by yelling every time Rutgers put the ball in play . . . But there was one thing wrong with this plan . . . Although the yelling did upset Rutgers, at the same time it bothered the Princeton players because they had to use too much effort in yelling and it distracted them from their own play . . . So, for the second game against Rutgers, a Princeton man got the great idea of having some of the students along the sideline do the yelling instead of the players . . . A few students were chosen and taught what to yell and when to yell . . . And that's how the tradition was born.

How tough is it to make a pro football team? . . . Did you know that more than 35,000 boys play college football in America each year and of that number fewer than 350 make it to the pros—so of all college football players only about one out of every 100 are able to go into pro football?

ever, take some doing—for just one reason. Eight games into the schedule, Princeton still has no established quarterback; Cornell, on the other hand, will bring the Ivy League's total offense leader into the game in its field general, junior Mark Allen. Just as it had a year ago against Yale, Princeton began against the Lions with a quarterback who had apparently won the starting assignment, only to bench him midway through the action. Last week, sophomore Dave Mistretta, who had guided the Orange and Black to victories over Brown and Harvard, was replaced by junior Fred Dazzell. A year ago, Jim Flynn, winner in four previous starts, gave way to Ron Jackson in the 10-6 loss to the Blue here. That sort of inconsistency in mid-November inevitably takes a major toll.

Cornell without Marinaro. It is hardly accurate to say that Cornell does not miss Ed Marinaro, who has already caught on with the Minnesota Vikings, but the Ithacans are actually a far better balanced team than they were in the three years when their fine running back was marking national headlines. Sophomore Dick Malone, if not hindered by a knee he strained late in the game against Dartmouth, is quite

QUICK LOOK AT CORNELL
OFFENSE: Not better than expected without Marinaro, good balance between Allen's passing and Malone's running.
DEFENSE: Defense improved. Coach Jack Myslek had given up an average of 27 points to six league opponents.
CHIEF ASSIST: Cornell is a constant threat to score. Malone is nationally ranked in yards gained rushing per game with 114.
CHIEF PROBLEM: Inconsistent defense (poorly statistically among Ithaca's opponents) yields more points than offense can muster.

The Last Day: Only Lost Place Is Noiled Down

On the final day of the 1972 season, three teams can still win the Ivy title outright but only two of them can finish in a first-place tie. And only last place Brown is locked into its present position.

If Dartmouth defeats Penn at Philadelphia, the Green will pick up all the marbles with its eighth first-place finish (won outright) or shared) in the last 11 years.

If Penn wins and Harvard upsets Yale, the Quakers would have their first championship since 1969.

However, if Yale defeats Harvard, it would need a tie game between Dartmouth and Penn in order to hold first place alone.

There have already been two ties this year, but never since Ivy play became a complete round-robin in 1956 have there been three. If Yale wins while Dartmouth and Penn draw, the final standings would show Yale 5-2, Dartmouth 4-1-2 and Penn 4-2-1.

Cornell can finish as high as third, as can Harvard, given the right combination of defeats for other teams.

Princeton has a fourth-place finish within reach, but if it loses while Columbia beats Brown, it would topple all the way to a sixth-place deadlock with the Lions.

likely to gain the 87 yards he needs to top 1,000 for the season in his sophomore year.

Blending with him is Allen, a vastly improved passer over last year, when he was charged with never having to do anything more than hand off to Marinaro. He now has an completion average of close to 50% and eight touchdown passes.

The Ithacans round out their backfield with senior Barrett Rosser, a converted quarterback, at right half, and Bob Jueld (rhymes with Yale), a 200-lb fullback. If Malone is not in top shape, they will field Horace Bradshaw, who scored twice against Dartmouth after Malone left the game.

Defensively, Cornell is led by 220-lb linebacker Bob Lally who earned All-Ivy honors as a sophomore. There are, however, only three seniors on this platoon, and it has had its problems throughout the season, a situation that has been particularly frustrating for the highly capable Jack Myslek, who built many a fine defensive unit at Dartmouth before taking the head job at Ithaca.

Cornell has yielded nearly 1,300 yards on the ground in six Ivy games, almost two for every one that Princeton has given up. The two teams are about even in pass defense, so the outcome will hinge on the question of whether the still uncertain Princeton running game can post enough points against the questionable Cornell defense to record an upset.

It Was 6-3, Alright, But Not 6-3 PHS Wanted

Oh, but it was frustrating. Winless Trenton High School stunned streaking Princeton High School 6-3, here Saturday and the groans and cries of anguish on the part of the Little Tigers and their followers could be heard all the way to Trenton.

For the moment, anyway, this one hurt too badly to point out that PHS had, despite the loss to Trenton, won five of nine contests this season to engineer a remarkable turnaround from the previous year, when it failed to win a single game. What made the loss so painful was that the Little Tigers had chance after chance to score and let them all slip through their fingers.

"It's a shame," said a disappointed Dick Wood after the game. The PHS coach added: "It never should have happened. Shoot, this is the game we'll remember all winter. It's good for Trenton, but bad for our kids."

PHS Is Tight. "Our kids were so darn tight in the beginning they just couldn't do anything right," Then he commented that perhaps the coaches were just as much to blame. "Maybe we made too much of the game," he said. We harped all week on Trenton and what might happen. We may have done more harm than good by

The game was a classic example of one team pushing the other all over the field, racking up one-sided margins in all statistics but the one that counts most: the final score. In short, PHS was beaten more by itself than it was by Trenton. "We gave them the game, no question about it," said Wood.

Trenton was able to gain only one first down in the entire first half. Turnovers by both clubs came so fast it was hard to keep track. Yet the Toms rain is a question that will go unanswered, but Princeton could not hang onto a dry ball. As they have so often in the past three years, turnovers killed the Tigers, who yielded 17 points in the first half before they either recorded a first down or moved into Yale territory.

Blair Magaziner, deep on Yale punts, fumbled the first two times the Eli's kicked, and when they recovered the second time, it took only four plays for Dick Jauron to score the first of his three touchdowns. Another bad snap from center Paul Yakutis, who has had periodic problems in that department this fall, set up the second Yale score, Jauron again going over to climax a four play drive from 21 yards out.

The visitors added a 26 yard field goal before Dave Mistretta launched Princeton's lone march of the day. Three completed passes highlighted the 60 yard drive, Jim Waggoner going over from the 1 to narrow the gap to 17-7. That, however was Princeton's lone success, and when Yale picked off a Mistretta pass early in the third quarter to gain possesion on the Tiger 6, school was out.

Two personnel losses in the offensive line were a factor in Princeton's inability to gain more than 62 yards rushing. Senior tackle Jeff Hart did not make the trip after he incurred a leg infection, and the personnel shuffle gave his job to a player who had lost his starting assignment on the other side of the line a fortnight ago.

Late in the first half, veteran Bill Brown, a line guard, suffered a mild concussion and sat out the rest of the game. To set up front of that cather kept efforts by Wigenseller and fullback Bruce Harding to the low point of the year.

Problem for McCandless. Some time before Saturday's kickoff against Cornell, Jake McCandless, my 1 choice between Fred Dalzell and Dave Mistretta as his starting quarterback. Over and above the human element, he is confronted with these statistics:

Mistretta has been a winner in two of the three games he has started but has a pass completion record of 11 for 34 and three interceptions. Thus his completion record is hardly above the percentage of 32% which the opposition picks off based on those which one man actually catches.

Dalzell whose completion average is just over 50% ranked third behind Flynn and Flammer last year at a sophomore and after 17 games on the varsity has yet to start and win. He opened against Rutgers and Penn, and when he did, he was buried during the latter game. Mistretta took over, producing victories over Brown and Harvard. Flynn top man when the season started, has not played since he was hurt at Hanover in the third game.

A bargain is a bargain.

While you can see this new 1973 Beetle is still at a nice low price, you really can't begin to see the value until you know what you're getting for your money.

A warranty, for instance, that's twice what you get with any other small car 24 months or 24,000 miles. *

But then, we wouldn't be offering it if it weren't for our incredibly finicky factory inspections: over 1100 inspectors poring over more than 5,000 parts. (It sounds compulsive, but it's the best way to reach perfection.)

Consider also our legendary resale value. When you compare it with other cars after three years, it makes our $1999* sound absolutely amazing! *

Everything adding up to one important point: there's a big difference between being cheap, and being a bargain.

Tall Princeton Basketball Team Nears Opening of Season

In the earliest start scheduled for it within memory, Princeton's basketball team will open its season next Wednesday, November 29, just four days after the last football game. Penn State, in which the Tigers lost, 72-70, a year ago, will provide the opposition in Jadwin Gym at 8 p.m.

Brian Taylor, who has made it with the New York Nets, is gone, but Bill Kapler and Bill Daake are back. The New York Times' somewhat surprising viewpoint is that this exchange makes Princeton a stronger Ivy League contender than it was last year, but the odds are against Kapler and Daake between them matching the 25-points per game average that Taylor achieved.

The added height this pair of 6'8 forwards will provide with 6'9 Andy Rimol up front should improve Princeton rebounding, although a number of teams can come close to matching that kind of height. Kapler, however, has a fine reputation as an aggressive the St. Louis area, he will add runner-up Ivy League berth strength to the Tigers if he finds a place in the National Invitation Tournament. Captain Al Duty's 11-point average and extreme dependability will be missing from the front court.

Reserve Strength. Letterman John Berger, 6'5, and two of last year's reserves, John Sadowski and Joe Vavrecka, are others looking for work as forwards. The lone prospect from an unusually weak freshman team is 6'8 Jim Flores.

Captain Ted Manakas, whose 13 point average gave the Tigers 38 backcourt points a game with Taylor last winter, will begin his third year as "quarterback." A topflight ball handler, a good outside shooter who can also drive for the basket with extreme accuracy, he will be a major asset.

Penn, the defending champion, and Harvard again rate as the teams to beat among the Iveys. Princeton figures to have a good shot at a first division berth but without Taylor is not the strong title contender it would have been.

After the Penn State opener, the Tigers head for the Palestra on December 2 to play Villanova. They'll be in Madison Square Garden Thursday, December 7, to face Rutgers, labelled one of the top eastern independents this season. Home games with Davidson and Virginia are on the schedule (see pages 28 and 29) before two holiday tournaments.

does were able to carry a 6-3 margin into the locker room at the half on a fluke play. Fluke—if one were rooting for PHS—a heads-up play from a Trenton viewpoint.

It came with 9:31 remaining in the second period. After Greg Kline had passed to Mike Diamond for a first down on the Trenton nine, Bob Zimmerman carried to the five on the next play.

Play Covers 95 Yards. On second down, Kline attempted to lateral the ball. He botched it and never saw Trenton's Jim Austin coming from his blind side. Austin literally took the ball right out of Kline's hands and sped toward the goal, 95 yards away.

Before the PHS team could react, Austin had such a lead over his pursuers that they gave up the hopeless chase at midfield. Trenton attempted to pass for the two-point conversion but it was broken up by Craig Carlton.

Zimmerman carried the return kickoff to the 41. Despite a PHS clip penitentiary and interceptions were to torment the Blue and White all during the game. Kline guided the home team down field, passing to Zimmerman for Princeton's eighth first down on the Trenton eight. Zimmerman, who entered the game with eight receptions for a 24.3 average yard gain per catch, made a fine grasp of Kline's high pass.

In three plays, however, PHS was driven back. On a fourth and 12, Ned Fry booted a field goal from the 18 yard line for a 20-yard effort. Fry, set a record, ended as the second highest scorer for the season with 28 points—140 of three field goal attempts and 22 for 22 in extra points.

The second half was one in missed chances for PHS. Time and again, the PHS defense, led by Frank Capone and Willie Alexander presented the Little Tigers with excellent field positions. But PHS, forced to depend on the pass more than the run because of a slippery muddy field, couldn't put a drive together.

Moreover, the Tornadoes, buoyed by their gut TD and fearing a possible first win played better ball in the second half. Their defense was stopping Princeton on the long pass and their offense, moribund in the first half, came alive just enough to register key first downs that enabled Trenton to eat up the clock.

Mooney to Diamond. Mooney replaced Kline at quarterback to start the second half. Before long, he had hit Mike Diamond for three straight completions. On the latter, PHS was whistled for an ineligible receiver downfield—the second time it was guilty of that infraction. Instead of a first down on the

Sports In Princeton

35, PHS was back in its own territory. A few plays later, Mooney passed into a crowd; the ball was tipped and picked off by Trenton's Rich Bonner. Before the period ended Mooney had the team moving, with a first down—No. 13 for PHS—on the Trenton 30, but again Bonner picked off a tip pass Mooney had on the 21.

With 6:50 remaining, George Reynolds intercepted a pass from THS quarterback Tom Piscione on the 30 but PHS, with Kline back at the helm, was unable to move. Although Trenton ate up the clock by getting one first down, Dan Poling recovered his second PHS fumble with 1:16 to go on the visitors' 28.

Kline's first pass to the goal line was no good and his second was intercepted by Austin. Fifty-six seconds were left. Calling time out after every play, PHS forced THS to punt and Dave Black brought PHS its last chance when he returned the kick to the Trenton 32. Twenty-nine seconds left.

Mooney's second pass was intercepted. Had PHS been able to keep the ball, Wood said after the game he would have sent Flynn to try a field goal. "At that point I was willing to settle for a tie," he said.

One player who was tight for PHS was center Jeff Lewis who on three consecutive occasions snapped the ball over punter Ron Campbell's head. The first came early in the game and Trenton fell on the loose ball on the PHS 14. It was unable to capitalize, however, on its first play from scrimmage the snap back was fumbled and Richard Gury recovered for PHS.

Still in the first period, Alexander recovered Trenton's second fumble on the 24. Three Kline passes were off the mark and Campbell went back to punt. This time the one-handed Lewis' high snap tucked the ball under his arm and ran it in first down to the 47 for a 23-yard gain.

Again, PHS failed to move and Campbell went back to punt, and again the snap was high. This time Campbell was able to bring the ball down and get the kick off in time.

After Trenton was unable to do anything but never seriously threatened throughout the game, it had to punt. Consecutive carries of 16 and 14 yards by Dick Bob Weisbecker up the middle sparked the PHS drive that carried to the Trenton zone. Two plays later, Alexander snatched the ball and the game was over.

"I was afraid of this," said Wood later. "I felt the same as I did last week, we had to get started and do something fast or we would be in trouble. We had many many chances. The defense did an exceptional job you can't fault them at all. They gave up field position but we just couldn't get it in."

Asked if he were satisfied with a 5-4 record, Wood replied, "No, I'm not satisfied! I'm happy the season wasn't any worse, but it's a disappointing way to end." When you look back over the whole thing, it wasn't bad, though."

Play Last Game. Seniors playing their last game include Ned Fry, Craig Carlton, Tom Holgsang, Dave Black, Bob Weisbecker, Frank Caponi, Greg Kline, Jeff Lewis, Jim Rossi, Guy Pierson, John Granci, Frank Boyer, Alan Schwartz, Dave Cowan, who together with Caponi co-captained the team; Tom Mason, Dan Poling, Howard Sweeney, Richard Guzy, Wray Blattner and Wes McClain.

Zinsmeister led in scoring with six TDs, three rushing and three on pass receptions. Weisbecker had four TDs and Kline and Black, three each. Black, shut out in the final game, was the leading pass receiver with 21 for 463 yards and a 22.0 average gain. Diamond, who grabbed eight against Trenton, was second with 19 receptions including two for touchdowns.

Carlton led in pass interceptions with six. Black had four and Zinsmeister and Reynolds picked off two each.

PHS SOPHOMORES WIN

For undefeated Gridiron record, scoring a 27-6 victory over St. Anthony's last week in its final game of the season, the Princeton High sophomore football team finished its second undefeated season in a row with a 10-1 record. The only blemish was an opening 6-6 tie with Haddon.

PHS quarterback Pete Wilson threw four touchdown passes of 35 and one yard to Steve Tomason and Dave Leon, and fullback Don Bonstroll plunged over for another from the two. Robert Wood's 10-yard sweep accounted for the little Tigers' first score. St. Anthony's half-scored first on a sneak early in the second period, when its quarterback went 60 yards.

Again, PHS failed to move and Campbell went back to punt, and again the snap was high. This time Campbell was able to bring the ball down and get the kick off in time.

After Trenton was unable to do anything but never seriously threaten throughout the game, it had to punt. Consecutive carries of 16 and 14 yards by Dick Bob Weisbecker up the middle sparked the PHS drive that carried to the Trenton zone. Two plays later, Alexander snatched the ball and the game was over.

The defense did an exceptional job you can't fault them at all. They gave up field position but we just couldn't get it in."

In addition to the usual indoor relay format of one and two-mile relays, the meet will include a shuttle hurdle relay, the Princeton Medley relay (100-110-220-300) and the distance medley relay. A two-mile run and 60-yard dash augment the track portion of the program, while field events continue on next page.

LOWER COSTS SEEN

For Hospital Care. Despite publicity on the mounting expense of health care, the future cost of most illnesses and injuries experienced by Princeton area residents may very well decline.

The reason, according to John W. Kauffman, executive vice president of The Medical Center at Princeton, is the concept of comprehensive care. Mr. Kauffman, chairman-elect of the American Hospital Association, made his predictions during a dinner sponsored by the Medical Center of its former trustees.

Terming the center "one of the most complete health care institutions in the nation," the hospital executive lauded former trustees for their "very important role" in its development. "Because of your commitment to the community and your vision for its well-being," Mr. Kauffman said, "area residents have available the most complete health care program in the state."

Tracing development of the center from its beginnings as a converted farmhouse, Mr. Kauffman and other hospital officials detailed present functions of the center's Medical Arts, Princeton Hospital, Princeton House and Merwick units. "Together," he noted, "these units provide area residents with facilities to meet virtually any level of required health care at the lowest payable cost."

Cost Cutting. On the example of a hip fracture, the hospital official placed the total cost of treatment in an acute care hospital at $3,000.

"For a Princeton area resident," he added, "that cost could be reduced to $1,950 by shortening the length of stay in an acute medical environment and placing the patient under less expensive extended care at Merwick."

"Costs can be further reduced," Mr. Kauffman predicted as the health care profession continues to educate people on how to stay well and treat them at the earliest sign of illness."

Mr. Kauffman was joined in the program by Ralph S. Mason, president of the non profit Medical Center Board of Trustees, who praised former hospital leaders for their contributions. "It's the tripartite effort shared by our administration and medical staff."

"We're all involved in seeing that there is quality patient care," he told former trustees. "The patient is our primary concern—a concern which must not be limited to a hospital bed."

GEOFF HILL along with Oon Cartwright guided the PHS sophomore football team to an undefeated season this year. The 6-5 Hill played football at Hill School, New Brunswick High and Springfield College before earning a master's degree from the Citadel. He coached at Charleston, S.C., before coming to Princeton this year.

Aaron Lemomick, Graduate Dean for the past four years, left July 1, as President William G. Bowen announced last January. Professor Lemomick, also 49, will become Dean of the Faculty, succeeding Richard A. Lester. Next spring, Dean Lester, Professor of Economics and Public Affairs, will reach the administrative retirement age of 65.

Professor Kerman, Tutor in Yale's Division of the Humanities in 1970-72, is the eighth educator to serve as the Dean of the Graduate School, a post created in 1960. His selection culminates what President Bowen described as "a nationwide canvass of the outstanding possibilities throughout American higher education."

Dr. Kerman, the recipient in 1968 of one of the 33 top fellowships awarded by the National Endowment for the Humanities for special research, is the first humanist to be designated Graduate Dean since the retirement in 1958 at age 75 of the first Graduate Dean, classical Andrew Fleming West.

Following a year as Instructor of English at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N.Y., Professor Kerman joined Yale's Department of English in 1964 and has been at Yale for the past 14 years. He was Associate Provost for a period of three years (1967-68), served as Acting Provost of the University for the 1970 spring term and was named first in cochair of the Karl Young Professorship in 1971.

Other academic and administrative positions include his 1967 appointment by President Kingman Brewster to the Special research team studying the possible move of Aswan

College to the Yale Campus, leading Yale's investigations in the academic areas. In 1964-65 he was chairman of Directed Studies in Yale College, a program that permits a small number of select students to spend the first two years in specially designed seminars in the humanities and the sciences.

An effective and popular teacher on both the undergraduate and graduate levels, the Dean Designate is currently directing Yale's Major in Literature, a new undergraduate major offering study of the full range of literature and fiction, without limitation to a single language or national literature." Last spring he was honored by Yale Phi Beta Kappa with one of its William Clyde DeVane Medals for Distinguished Teaching and Scholarship.

END OF THE LINE

For PHS Soccer Team. The finest season ever for any Princeton High School soccer team came to an end Friday, when Sterling, the state's seventh ranked team, ousted the Little Tigers from the NJSLAA tournament, 2-0.

Earlier, the surprising Little Tigers had defeated Moorestown and Ocean Township in the state tourney for its seventh and eighth victories of the campaign, one more than any recorded by a PHS soccer team. Princeton's final 8-8 record was its best ever and it marked the first time the Blue and White had participated in the annual NJSLAA event.

"We had a bad day against Sterling," said PHS coach Mel Jones. He reported that center halfback Bernie Shandoff was stricken with an illness and "consequently, I had to shift around some of the positions." "Still," continued Jones, "I'm satisfied with the season. We made our preliminary goal to make the state tournament and we went pretty far. We won two games. We'll try to make it next year, too."

Jones' losses right through graduation: Chris Baumann, Shandoff, Randy Thomas, Henry Prati, the team's leading scorer this year, Dudley Woodbridge, Jim Bolster and Eric Lascherer.

He acknowledged it represented a lot of holes to fill but he pointed out that PHS "had a very good jayvee contingent coming up. A lot of good talent."

It was the first season for Jones, who coached the jayvee last year to serve as head coach. He is a former player at Trenton State. He was assisted by Lamont Fletcher, also in his first year on the coaching staff.

SECOND WIN RECORDED

By Jr. Rifle Club. The Princeton Junior Rifle Club, coached by Lt. Richard V. Steiner of the Township police, made it two wins in as many tries last week, when it upset a team of Princeton University undergraduates, 1048 to 979, at the Citizens' Rifle and Revolver Club on the Princeton-Hightstown Road. "They've surprised me so far at the way they've been shooting," said Lt. Steiner.

High shooter for the Junior Rifle Club comprised of area high school students, was Mark Serby with 270 out of a possible 300. Scott Holtzman, 261; Kevin Mellon, 249, and Tamme Baldwin, 235, followed.

Rick Mott, captain of the university team, led all shooters with 276. Dave Seidman shot 268; Jack Clay 237 and Charles Bounds, 198.

Each shooter fires ten shots in a prone, kneeling and standing position with a .22 caliber rifle. The two teams will engage in a return match in December.

New Jersey Bell ought to do more to make phone service better.

True

False

We're doing a lot about phone service right now.

In fact, we're in the midst of our largest construction program ever. Spending over one million dollars every working day this year, doing such things as installing more cable underground, bringing electronic switching to more localities, making Dial Tone First and Touch Tone® service available to more people.

That's a pretty good record. But we'll have to do even more in the years to come because being good isn't good enough.

To meet your soaring demands, we see the need to spend $2.5 billion on construction programs in the next five years alone. Doubling our investment in facilities, and in effect building a new New Jersey Bell. To do this, we must earn well in order to justify the investment of such massive amounts of new capital.

Good service, good earnings—they're closely related. In the long run, you can't have one without the other.

We've set a high standard for telephone service in New Jersey. We're doing our best to live up to it.

NEVUS TO GO...

Bank to Come In. Good hard cash will replace soft, trailing chiffon after the first of the year when the New Jersey National Bank of Princeton moves into the space now occupied by Nevus-Voorhees store at 194 Nassau. "We hope our structural changes will be completed by January 31," says Richard D. Macgill, president of NJN Bancorporation, parent of New Jersey National of Princeton. Walker, Sander, Ford and Kerr of Princeton, are the architects.

"We've expanded our Lawrence Shopping Center store, and we plan another store in this area by the end of 1973," says John Nevius, of the Nevus-Voorhees firm. He declined to say where it would be.

He added that the 3,000 square feet of the 194 Nassau Street location is "too small for a department store." Nevus-Voorhees was the first tenant in the space and has been there since the office building was completed in the mid-1960s.

The new bank will be, in Mr. Macgill's words, "a full service, broad base bank for everyone." New Jersey National of Princeton is renting the space from the Hilton Realty Company, owner of the building, taking over the Nevus-Voorhees lease.

"We hope to outgrow the space in a few years," Mr. Macgill says, "and we'll be looking for a larger place."

The bank will be the first new bank in Princeton since 1903, when the First National Bank was founded.

DIVIDEND INCREASED

By Princeton American Bancorp. An increase in the quarterly dividend to 23 1/2 cents per share payable to share holders of Princeton American Bancorp common stock has been announced by James D. Elleman, Chairman of the Board of Directors. This represents an increase in the dividend rate of $ .90 to $ .91, or $ .01 per share, on an annual basis.

According to Mr. Elleman, this dividend increase reflects a continuing favorable earnings trend anticipated earlier this year, and we look for further improvement in 1973."

A regular quarterly dividend of $ .75 per share to shareholders of Princeton American preferred stock was also announced. The dividends are payable December 15, 1972 to shareholders of record December 1, 1972.

LOSS AT APPLIED LOGIC

But Trend Is Reversed. Applied Logic Corporation has announced a loss of $271,061 or 15 cent per share on revenues of $2,896,171 for its fiscal year ended September 30.

The loss reported for the first nine months was reduced by fourth quarter earnings of $75,240 on revenues of $858,298. Revenues for fiscal 1972 are up 15% over fiscal 1971, while fourth quarter revenues show an increase of 64% over the same period a year ago.

With the implementation of a plan of quasi reorganization at the start of fiscal 1972, and as a result of continuing improvements in the cost to revenue ratio, the loss for fiscal 1972 represents a 36% reduction from the loss of $2,717,426 reported for fiscal 1971. The company said it is optimistic about a continuing upward trend.

Community service, pride of personal or volunteer, is almost a requirement in Mrs. Campbell's family. Her son-in-law is Borough Councilman Joseph Moore, who is also Dean Moore, of the Princeton University staff. Mrs. Moore is administrative assistant to the University's Dean Cecilia Brewster; daughter Sharon is a Project Director for the Temple University Dental School; son Bruce Campbell, after two years at Dartmouth joined the Marines; he said he needed the discipline! NEW SHOWROOM OPEN
By Regal Home & Kitchen.
A new design showroom for homeowners in the area has been opened by Regal Home & Kitchen Center at 30 George Dye Road and Route 33 in Hamilton Square.

Concentrating on the two rooms in a home that get the most use, the Regal Home & Kitchen Center contains eight full displays of kitchens and baths that will be changed from time to time. Designs to fit any pocketbook—range from modern to Colonial to Spanish with different woods, wood-tones and color combinations.

To compliment basic cabinetry and fixture designs and colors, Regal has a full paneling department, and carpet and flooring section where color and texture coordinates may be selected. The wall panel display is unusual in that each sample is mounted on rollers, enabling the customer to compare a number of panels at the same time.

Another outstanding feature is a fully operational kitchen where homeowners can see how different appliances work and look. Included are some of the latest conveniences such as a trash compactor, micro-wave range and indoor charcoal grill. A full line of brand name kitchen and laundry appliances are also on display.

In addition to the kitchen and bath, design service is available for almost every room in the house.

Family Monahan, director of opera, lashed and pleasant surroundings, where cabinets, shelving, need of homeowners, apartment dwellers, builders and paneling and floor covering are involved. Cabinets are custom manufactured by Regal's own factory in Chesterfield. There are others by Birchcraft or Roseline and standard sized stock line cabinetry and vanities by Everett.

Regal's new showroom was established, said Joseph P.

JOB REFERRAL OFFERED

To Aid Women Here. The formation of a job referral service in Princeton was announced this week by Lynne Darcy, Coordinator of the New Jersey Women on Employment, a task force organized by the New Jersey Chapters of the National Organization for Women (NOW) to eliminate discrimination against women in both government employment and private industry.

The service collects job vacancy listing from employers and also resumes from women interested in job placement. The announcement pointed out:

"Now that job mobility signs have been removed from all jobs, thanks to State and Federal regulations against discrimination, employers are actively seeking women for these previously all male occupations. Since relatively few women have had the opportunity to acquire or enlarge their skills in these job categories, a statewide geographical area is needed to draw qualified applicants. Also, because of the still present discrimination against them, many women could find jobs comparable with their skills locally. Our job referral service hopes to 'match' them up."

Employer criteria for the job referral service should include all prerequisites for the position as well as an indication of the starting salary range. Applicants should include in their resumes their education, previous experience (both paid and volunteer), salary requirement, geographic area preferred, and indication of the areas of vocational training.

Bicycle Safety Rules for After-Dark

Dusk comes early these afternoons. Too many bike riders aren't obeying the laws that apply equally to cyclists and automobile drivers, says Township Traffic Officer Sgt. Anthony Natale. Regulations:

- All bikes must have a light on front & reflector on rear.
- Bike riders MUST ride WITH the traffic — on the right side of the street just like a car.
- Bike riders must obey traffic lights and stop signs just like a motorist.
- Bike riders can be given a traffic ticket for violations just like a motorist. And if a young rider doesn't wear helmet, he can be taken to juvenile court.

Sgt. Natale isn't happy about "monkey bars," the legal handbikes which he says aren't safe. He also urges parents to emphasize safety rules and to be sure bike brakes work, pedals aren't worn and lights are in place.

The Rising Generation

THE RISING GENERATION: IS IT RISING OR FALLING?

By Sanford C. Reynolds Jr., Township Committeeman and Vice-chairman, Princeton Recreation Board

There are some who believe the so-called "rising" generation is falling—perhaps they would prefer to use the word "falling." As a parent of a young adult and a teenager—I disagree.

First let us look at the role we parents played in molding the society in which this rising generation is maturing. Many of us were raised during the Depression and exposed to an atmosphere of deprivation and insecurity. It was we, their parents, who devoted our primary energies during the 1950's to seeking a more comfortable, more secure style of life.

Our principle aims in many cases, were designed to raise the standard of living for ourselves and we entered enthusiastically into the race. And we made it! We won! We point with pride to such materialistic things as our income, where we live, the clubs we belong to, the esteem we have in the community, and our social contacts. These, for the most part, are measurable goals and we are rightfully proud of having achieved a lifestyle better than that enjoyed by our strict, conservative parents.

But what happened on our way to achieving this standard of living? For one thing—we had more children than our parents. The birth rate after declining for 130 years, increased sharply in 1946 and stayed high until the mid 60's. And understandably, nothing but the best was good enough for our children.

We naturally expected them to be just as excited and proud of our materialistic accomplishments as we were. Often in dealing with our children, we substituted "things" for the plain old-fashioned "love" we had received from our parents. Sometimes our children got in the way of our achieving or the enjoyment of our achievements. It was easier to "buy them off" or ignore them, than to discipline them.

Hindsight is always keen. It's not surprising now, as we look back, that in the mid 60's the atmosphere began to change and our children became bored with the ease of suburban life. When they informed us that they wanted "to do their own thing," we couldn't understand. We thought they were ungrateful brats. In reality, they were seeking a life style which had meaning for them, something which could give them a greater sense of individual worth, something they could do on their own and of which they could be proud.

I have worked closely with many of the youth of Princeton during this period of social change. It would have been helpful to have known in 1965 what I do now. As time went on, I began to learn that "doing their own thing" for most youngsters does not mean starting a revolution or forming a new society devoid of rules. I learned that the rising generation is intelligent, more individualistic and questioning. They do not reject discipline and in fact, sometimes cry out for it. But they will not accept blindly other people's values nor arbitrary discipline. It is not acceptable to them to be told "do it because I told you to do it." They want to know "why should I do it?" And "I have to do it, why doesn't Johnny?"

I believe our rising generation is generally more mature than we were at a comparable age. They want to be given more responsibility and often are able to handle it well. They do not want to be "spoon fed" and are prepared to face reality. Another key idea which developed among youth during the late '60's and which still survives is "tell it like it is." They can't put up with hypocrisy. They want to separate fact from fiction.

I was impressed with the contributions made by Princeton High School students last year on the Committee to Develop Guidelines for the school sports program. They wanted to know the facts. They were distressed by rumors they had heard about the future of sports at school; they wanted to do something about it.

The football team met independently while the committee was struggling, and developed rules they felt were needed for their sport. In some cases, their rules were stricter than those desired by their coaches. They desperately wanted to have a good football program.

They recognized the need for a code of conduct for the team which did not always allow each player "to do his own thing." They respected their coaches and asked only that there be rules, that all the rules be made known, that penalties for breaking the rules be spelled out and that the rules be applied fairly to all members of the team.

Anyone who sat through the rainy Saturday morning of September 30 at the Princeton High School field and saw the faces of those same football players after they had just won their first varsity football game since 1970, had to be impressed with the "rising generation." They had worked hard, after a series of disappointments, and had won. They were proud, and rightfully so.

Some may feel I am looking at the "rising generation" through rose colored glasses. I don't think so. This generation has its problems. Just as ours did. I feel confident that most of our children have a firm grip on themselves. While their values may be different than ours, their actions puzzling—even upsetting at times—they are on the up-and-up and will themselves do a great deal to help solve these problems.

There's never a doubt

Did you know that it is unethical for an appraiser to accept fees for placing certain values on property? That he cannot testify in a damage case when his fee is a percentage of the award? An appraiser cannot own or hold any interest in the property he is appraising. He can't divulge any of the findings of his reports until they are released by his client. His advertising must always be in good taste.

All facets of the services extended by WALTER B. HDWE, INC., 1 Palmer Sq., are in good taste. Call any of our three locations for more information on current real estate listings.
